 WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1903.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was 2,730
 copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

A GAIN OF 400
 In the daily circulation of the Times since Jan. 1st is something no other Washington county daily can show.
 The circulation statements of the Times can always be verified by anyone who so wishes. Press room, circulation books, paper bills and all that pertain to the circulation of the Times are open to the inspection of all. Is there any other Washington county daily that will show up in like manner?

Wm. J. Bryan endorsing a gold Democrat for a seat in the United States Senate seems to indicate that he has seen a new light and that he is willing to admit he does not represent the whole Democratic party of the country and is willing to concede something for the sake of harmony. Mr. Bryan is to be given credit for seeing the drift of public sentiment, but his admissions come too late to help him as a Democratic candidate for the presidency.

All the black sheep are not contained in any one flock, and when a man in a labor union is found to have gone wrong it does not indicate that the whole body of labor unions are corrupt. There are corrupt men in all walks of life. They even get into the church. It is proper that friends should give them their support until they are proved guilty, but when that is done the law should be allowed to take its course. The efforts of Sam Parks, of the Housewives union of New York, who was convicted of extortion and is out of Sing Sing on a stay of execution, to get up a public demonstration on Labor day that would have the appearance of being an endorsement of him and his methods was a failure, as it deserved to be. Labor unions cannot afford to stand for crookedness and as was shown Monday does not propose to. The sooner such men as Parks learn that they cannot shield themselves behind the union the better it will be for all concerned.

SIREN AND SONS.

Paul's husband, Baron Cederstrom, has been appointed a justice of the peace in the county of Brecon, Wales.
 Former Senator John P. Jones of Nevada has just purchased a gold mine in Mexico which he says is one of the richest in the world.
 John G. Carlisle has purchased the Poinsett place, consisting of a residence and fifteen acres of land, at Diamond Hill, near Greenwich, Conn.
 President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America, it is understood, will deliver a series of ten addresses this fall to the miners throughout the anthracite region.
 Colonel Myron T. Herrick, Republican candidate for governor of Ohio, has given a library to his native town of Wellington, O., in memory of his parents, Timothy H. and Mary H. Herrick.

Dr. John L. Doggett of Roanoke, Va., was seized with nightmare some nights ago. His wife caught him and tried to control him. He threw up both hands, struck the bedstead and broke both arms.

Mr. Cleveland has written friends in St. Paul, Minn., accepting conditionally an invitation to visit Minnesota on a hunting expedition in October. The former president states that he will go if he can so arrange his affairs.

All England is wondering if George Wyndham will accept a baronetcy, as it seems certain that such an honor will be offered him. Mr. Wyndham descends from two lines of earls, and a title would not therefore be a novelty in his family.

Djital Bey, who has been appointed Turkish minister of marine to succeed the late Hassan Pasha, is described as "a member of the palace 'gang' completely ignorant of naval matters and held in no consideration either in official or diplomatic circles in Constantinople."

Great White Bear, the great-grandson of Tall Tree, whitest chief of the Crow Indians, will blow a bugle for Uncle Sam in the navy. Tired of the tame life which he endured for five years in the Carlisle Indian school, he has enlisted on the receiving ship Minneapolis as a musician.

Indiana Settling in Mexico.
 The Kickapoo Indians are leaving Oklahoma at a rapid rate and settling in old Mexico. The McCloud Standard says it won't be long until the tribe will be forgotten in and around McCloud and that there will be some fine sections of land for sale in the near future.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

The Mount Anthony Golf Club, Bennington, was defeated in a team match at Dorset Saturday by the Dorset Field Club, the score being 18 to 1.

Rev. Alvah Hovey, the well known Baptist theologian, who died at his home in Newton, Mass., Sunday, was principal of the Derby academy in 1841 and 1842.

The grand jury of Chittenden county court reported yesterday. It found three true bills and four not found. It recommended that the county jail be enlarged for the accommodation of prisoners. No violations of the liquor law were reported.

W. R. Walker, employed in the office of Captain Lamoreaux, government construction quartermaster at Burlington, has been arrested and placed in $1,000 bonds, on the charge of murdering an assault with a knife on John Powers in the saloon of T. H. Murphy. Murphy furnished bail.

Myra Graves, domestic at the home of H. W. Calderwood of Craftsbury, committed suicide Friday by taking a large dose of laudanum and two ounces of corrosive sublimate, says an exchange. When asked why she did it she said, "Don't ask me." She had been in poor health all summer. She was 25 or 26 years old.

Mrs. W. S. Webb, Miss Frederika Webb and James Watson, W. Seward, Jr., and Vanderbilt Webb arrived at Shelburne Falls Sunday from New York having reached there on Saturday after a pleasant ocean voyage from England on the steamer St. Louis. Mrs. Webb and children are in excellent health and report Dr. Webb to be the same. He remained in Scotland to enjoy the fall shooting and returns home a month or so later.

Mrs. Eliza Derby, who resides with her daughter, Mrs. Laura Jenkins of Springfield, was 95 years old Sept. 1. Her daughter, Mrs. Charles Coleman of Windham, with her husband and two daughters, and her granddaughter, Mrs. L. B. Derby, and two sons, of Andover, were visitors through the day paying their respects to the aged mother and grandmother. A few neighbors were also callers. Mrs. Derby is feeble though able to be about most of the time.

Two police pay rolls were presented to the Burlington board of aldermen at the regular monthly meeting Monday night; one by Chief Brownell and one by Chief Russell, the former being ordered paid and the latter being laid upon the table. The bill presented by Chief Brownell had been approved by the aldermanic committee, while that presented by Chief Russell was not approved. Mayor Burke refused to sign any warrant to pay Chief Brownell.

Back to Nature.

The latest cult which has started in Germany is one whose followers call themselves "nature men," says the New York Commercial Advertiser. Its apostle is one Gustav Nagel, who lives in a mud hut in the outskirts of Berlin. His only clothing is a lion cloth, and he lives in the open air almost altogether. He has been joined by a woman whom he will marry. Her clothing consists of a single smock. Nagel has succeeded in getting so far about fifty converts, and a colony will be established at Arendsee. Nagel sells his photographs.

The Ancient Dragon Fly.

The largest insect of antiquity was a species of dragon fly which measured more than two feet across the expanded wings. It flourished during the carboniferous period. In the mesozoic age representatives of the older groups of insects were numerous and often of gigantic size.

Living Coal Cellar.

In the churchyard at a Welsh village there are four huge yew trees, and a large cavity in one of them, which is protected by a door, is used for storing the coal needed to heat the church during the winter months.

Fatal Hair Comb.

While combing her hair before a mirror Marie Prudhomme of Clercy, France, tossed her head back to wave aside her locks with such force that she broke her neck. The spinal cord was severed, and she died almost immediately.

Six Story Church For Chicago.

Instead of following the usual lines of a sacred edifice the new All Souls' Independent church in Chicago will resemble a big apartment building, and when completed it will have cost $150,000, says the Philadelphia Press. Educational and industrial features are to be conducted in conjunction with religious worship. In general the church will look like a high class apartment building, six stories high, with terra cotta trimmings. The basement will be devoted to the annual training department and the kitchen. The other floors will contain the auditorium, the church parlors, the pastor's studio and residence and the Sunday school rooms.

The Lifting of the Cup.

(A. D. 202.)
 The Duke of Shumrock passed the coast
 Beside the Irish main.
 And thus into his son made boast
 How he renown'd old gain.

Aloft, he said, Fame's tanhard thing
 And of contentment sup
 While I in joyous language sing
 The lifting of the cup.

Sir Thomas No, I essayed
 In vain that prize, so lift
 So that the stout endeavor made
 Much havoc with his thrift.

Of worldly goods, I ween, he had
 A goodly overplus.
 It was the showwroughts feel right glad
 When he coughed up the dross.

Yet haply on the other side
 The cup had always stayed.
 But good Sir Thomas ere he died
 Married a Yankee maid.

That union was with the sea dogs blast
 Of Lipton's salt sea lute.
 Who ne'er forgot their founder's quest
 A-sailing o'er the brine.

And year by year the cup they sought
 In vain across the sea
 Until at last the people thought
 It could not lifted be.

In jovial mood men jeered and snifted
 And said it was absurd
 Yet I at last the cup did lift
 With Shamrock XXXIII.

The eagle bird did proudly glide
 With Yankee cunning wrought.
 When I upon the other side
 The longest for trophy sought.

Right gallantly she cut the brine,
 But I upon the shore
 Did push the Shamrock o'er the line
 With wireless trolley power.

And when the Yankees cried, "A duke!"
 It did not vex me, so lift
 For I was shortly made a duke
 Because the cup I won.

And you shall have, when I am dead,
 The cup to hold for life.
 Thanks to the craft inherited
 From good Sir Thomas' wife.

In gentle breeze or howling blast
 Guard well that relic, Zoumal!
 That beauty mure from first to last
 Has cost ten million pounds.

PROTECTING BIRDS.
 An Official's Plan to Guard Songsters in Egypt.

Bird lovers in the United States will be interested to note that the birds have a friend in high places in Egypt, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. The minister of the interior there has made a laudable endeavor to limit if not suppress the wholesale capture and slaughter of singing birds. Henceforward the catching of them with nets is to be permitted only at a distance of 1,000 meters from the seashore. It has been the practice of the bird dealers to spread their nets in the autumn along the shore as near as possible to the sea so as to entrap the little creatures directly they arrive upon the land, exhausted with their long flight across the ocean.
 The birds will have a chance under the new regulation to enjoy their well earned rest after their journey and to recruit their powers for a flight further inland. Bird catching with fine twigs has also been prohibited under penalty as well as the transport and sale of the small birds locally known as "beccafiques."

New Espionage in Russia.
 A new form of espionage is being organized in Russia, says the Kansas City Journal. It takes the form of an entirely new police to serve entirely in the rural districts, and will be composed of 50,000 men distributed through the forty-six provinces. Prominent among the duties of the new force will be those of keeping the government, through the provincial authorities, well informed as to any symptoms of ferment in the rural population, with indications as to its cause, and the strict surveillance of all strangers, and, still more, of suspected persons appearing in their districts.

A New Match.
 For a year the use of phosphorus matches has been prohibited in Sweden. The new law has resulted in the invention of a match by the Engineers Ladin and Jernander which has been named the "repsticken," or scratch match. It will light against a wet surface. It is said to be less poisonous than a safety match.
